HCO BULLETIN OF OCTOBER 30, 1959

The following poems are considered suitable for inclusion in Scientology publications:

THE HAPPIEST DAYS?

Why do they think back with misty eyes
To the time when they were very, very small
And "everything had a flavour it now lacks"?

Are they so wrong to sentimentalise
About the days, "the happiest of them all"?
Before their engrams froze them in their tracks?

THE REACTIVE MIND OF LITTLE X

The truth? Of course you speak the truth, my friend,
(You who make your remarks as if with an indelible pencil);
You speak the truth in the sense of one who describes
A restaurant entirely in terms of the knives.

ABILITY

To be able to be sincere
In a world where the word sincerity is almost obscene.

To be able to speak the truth
In a world where truthfulness is almost a joke.

To be able to revere the spirit
In a world where spirituality is almost a charade.

INTELLIGENT QUESTION FROM THE REACTIVE MIND

Bacteria fix nitrogen in the soil.
Boxing promoters fix fights.
American women fix sandwiches.
Is there any difference?

FAMOUS QUOTATION?

I know a bank where the wild thyme restimulates...

THEY DON'T DO WHAT THEY KNOW

I was walking with Jesus Christ towards Waterloo Station
And we passed some men with a loud-speaker van.
Exhorting people to "come to Jesus".

And I said: "Do you realise that these men
Are exhorting people to come to you?"
The reply: "It's embarrassing, isn't it!"

A NEW SONG

You're like a little paper boat -
Like one of those I used to float
Down drains and streams.

And I would like to think that if
You're well constructed, paper skiff,
You'll float for ever in my dreams.

JULIAN COOPER.
