

Cause and Effect

Dist: Staff Hats.

Here is an interesting news item which was noticed by J. M. (Smokey) Brand, Staff member in Washington, D.C.

"In Texas there is a little town called Sunset; it is located between Wicheta Falls and Forth Worth.

" They formerly had a police department of four full time men. They had a small jail which practically always had a prisoner or two in it.

" Then there was a political reorganization of the County. Sunset now has only a part time deputy Sheriff.

" Now there is so little crime that the jail is used by the older men as a recreation hall in which they play dominoes."
