HCO BULLETIN OF MAY 21, 1962.

MISSED WITHOLDS,
ASKING ABOUT.

Since a pc can give a motivator response to the question, "Have I missed a withhold on you?" and since a pc's case can be worsened by permitting the pc to get off motivators rather than overts, the following becomes a must in asking for Missed Witholds:

"What have you done that I haven't found out about?"

Use "done", not "missed a withhold" in all missed w/h questions.

The prior confusion aspect will be found to operate also if this is followed and the missed withhold will blow.

In short use done not "missed withhold" in rudiments and middle rudiments questions and stress doingness rather than withholdingness.
