CONFRONTING. ADDITION

(Reference HCOB 2 June 71 Study Series No. 2 CONFRONTING)

In reference to the gradient of study objects to confront, under the item 'paper' the following procedure applies:

The student would confront an HCO PL or an HCO B. It is tacked to the wall upsidedown so it can't be read. The student sits in a chair and confronts it. It is not the significance of the bulletin that the student is confronting, it is the bulletin itself, the physical object. This is continued until the student is able to be there and comfortably perceive the upsidedown bulletin. It is usually done for 2 hours, no blink, no swallow, no twitch. Once this is accomplished, the student moves to the next gradient per the list in HCO B 2 June 71 CONFRONTING, Study Series No. 2.
