PTS RUNDOWN, FINAL STEP

The following is a rundown developed by LRH and tested at Flag as a final step to the PTS rundown. This step is run only after all terminals are run, and the rundown is completed through step D.

THE STEPS ARE:

1. Select the terminals already run in R3R in the sequence they were run, (first one, second one, third one, etc.)

2. Clear "Can't have", "Couldn't have" as DENIAL OF SOME-THING TO SOMEONE ELSE. Clear "enforced have" as MAKING SOMEONE ACCEPT WHAT THEY DIDN'T WANT. Have pc get the idea of these with an example or two.

3. Run on the SP items "can't have/enforced have" as motivator repetitive, then overt repetitive, the flow three terminal to others, others to terminal, (four flows of two commands each.)

4. After EACH item handled with the four flows, objective havingness should be run.

THE COMMANDS:

FLOW ONE: 1. What can't have did (terminal) run on you?

   2. What did (terminal) force on you you didn't want?

FLOW TWO: 1. What can't have did you run on (terminal)?

   2. What did you try to force on (terminal) that he (she, it) didn't want?

FLOW THREE: 1. What can't have did (terminal) run on others?

   2. What did (terminal) force on others they didn't want?

FLOW THREE (A): 1. What can't have did others run on (terminal)?

   2. What did others try to force on (terminal) that he (she, it) didn't want?

– OBJECTIVE HAVINGNESS –

THEORY:

The theory is that SPs are SPs because they deny Hav. and enforce unwanted Hav. They also deny do and enforce unwanted do. They also deny be and enforce unwanted be. This is why we have never before been able to run subjective Hav. It collided with SPs, overts and witholds on them.

A very full rundown then would be to start with don't be, must be; go on to don't do, must do; end up with can't have, enforced have. (This is not to be run at this time.) Hav alone should handle without resorting to be or do.

END OFF AT ONCE AND BEGIN OBJECTIVE HAVINGNESS IF THE TA SOARS OR THE PC CAVES IN. If this does not handle, then do a CS 53RC at once and handle.
